EXPERIENCE 1000 YEARS OF CULTURAL HISTORY IN AN AUTHENTIC SETTING

The Humpis Quarter is one of the best-preserved, late medieval residential areas in southern Germany. It was in the 15th century that the Humpis family of international traders gave this group of buildings the shape and layout we see today.

In this extraordinary place, visitors can trace the city's cultural history from the 11th to the 21st century. Authentic artefacts offer a nostalgic look at our fascinating past. A total of seven buildings are waiting to welcome you with exhibitions, special events and educational programs.
